AIM TRIPLE BLOW AT DARDANELLES

Allies Land Troops at Three Points to Cut Off Turkish Fortifications.

PORT OF ENOS IS CAPTURED

Fleet Resumes Bombardment in the Straits in Co-Operation With Movements on Land—Aviators Drop Bombs on Smyrna.

London, England, April 26.—The Daily Mail's Athens correspondent says: "The new Dardanelles attack by the allies has begun with the landing of troops at three points—at Enos, at the Suvla promontory on the west of the Gallipoli peninsula and on the Bulair isthmus.

Aim to Take Turkish Forts. "The object of these troops is to capture the Turkish forts on the Gallipoli peninsula and to prevent the sending of Turkish reinforcements across the Dardanelles. The troops have captured Enos and the passage from that port into the interior is not expected to offer difficulties.

Drop Bombs on Smyrna. "Meanwhile, the fleet renewed its vigorous bombardment of the straits and of various points on the west coast of Gallipoli."

Paris, April 26.—Allies' aeroplanes are showing great activity over Smyrna, says a special dispatch from Saloniki. A French aviator recently dropped two bombs on Fort Kastro, killing several soldiers; another sank a German ship lying in port and a third struck the railroad station.

Observations made by aviators, according to the dispatch, indicate that the Turkish forces assigned for the defense of Smyrna number 35,000. They occupy trenches extending from Vourlah to Smyrna and are posted on heights commanding the city.

Fort Two Brothers and Rastrati have been repaired. A new fortification built above the farm of St. George has been armed with thirty heavy guns, supposed to have been brought from Constantinople.

EMDEN'S MEN ESCAPE AGAIN

Crew of the Ayscha Reaches Lidd After Battles With Arabs—Suffer Heavy Losses.

Berlin, April 26.—The crew of the German war schooner Ayscha, composed of men who escaped when the cruiser Emden was sunk by an Australian warship in the Indian ocean November 10, have escaped again from patrol ships and arrived at the Arabian harbor of Lidd March 27. They covered by sea the 300 miles from Hodaida to Lidd.

After reaching the coast the sailors attempted to continue their journey overland, but were attacked by Arabs, supposedly at the instigation of the English. After three days' stubborn fighting the attacks were repulsed and they reached the road to Hadachas, where the railway was open. The adventurous Germans suffered heavy losses.

Villa Has 30,000 Troops At Aguas Calientes.

Northern Leader to Make Supreme Effort to Crush General Obregon—Zapata Troops Active.

Mexico City, April 26.—General Villa has assembled at Aguas Calientes for his coming battles with General Obregon 30,000 troops with large supplies of ammunition and the strongest equipment of artillery he ever has had in one place. This information was received in Washington in confidential advices from Mexico.

According to these advices, Villa and Angeles are making the trial of every important post in central and northern Mexico, from which they have withdrawn garrisons, on their ability to crush Obregon.

It is stated on high authority that General Angeles and General Urbana have gathered at Aguas Calientes the best troops from all of northern Mexico, together with ammunition, the lack of which is said to have caused Villa's defeat by Obregon a week ago at Celaya.

At the same time, General Palafox, in command of between five and ten thousand Zapatistas moving northward from Mexico City, is reported to have cut off General Obregon from communication with Vera Cruz, and to have destroyed the railroad 20 miles west of Pachuca. The greater part of this Zapatista force is said to be preparing to attack the re-enforcements sent from Vera Cruz to aid Obregon.

Obregon has about twelve thousand troops, but is reported to be in desperate need of ammunition.

BRITISH TROOPS TAKE OFFENSIVE

Canadians Put in Front Line of Attacking Forces in Flanders.

FOUR GUNS ARE RECAPTURED

London Headquarters Report Says Gallantry and Determination of the Canadians Undoubtedly Saved Situation—Many Casualties.

By HERBERT TEMPLE, International News Service Correspondent. London, April 26.—British troops in Flanders have taken the offensive against the Germans and hard fighting is in progress at Langemarck and Steenstraete. This was announced in an official statement issued by the government press bureau here.

Canadians in Front Line. The Canadian division of the British army is in the front line of the attacking forces. The Canadians are leading in the counter-attacks against the Kaiser's troops.

When the Germans made their sudden assault upon the Langemarck-Steenstraete front the Canadians were forced to fall back because of the loss of the line at that point. Four of the Canadian 4.7-inch guns were captured by the Germans. In their counter-attack, however, the Canadians recaptured the guns, also taking many prisoners, including a colonel.

A report from British headquarters says that the gallantry of the Canadians undoubtedly saved the situation. The text of the report follows:

"The fight for the ground into which the Germans penetrated between Steenstraete and Langemarck still continues.

"Loss of this part of the line laid bare the left of the Canadian division, which was forced to fall back in order to keep in touch with the right and neighboring troops.

Recapture Guns. "In the rear of the latter have been four Canadian 4.7-inch guns, which this morning fell into the hands of the enemy, but some hours later the Canadians made a most brilliant and successful advance, recapturing these guns and taking a considerable number of German prisoners, including a colonel.

"The Canadians had many casualties, but their gallantry and determination undoubtedly saved the situation. Their conduct has been magnificent throughout."

CALLS THE U. S. HOSTILE

German Military and Naval Expert Says America Cannot Be Arbitrator of Peace.

Berlin (via Amsterdam), April 26.—"America is openly assuming an attitude of hostility. In consequence it cannot be the arbitrator of peace." This statement is made by Count Ernst von Reventlow, the famous military and naval expert, whose utterances are usually regarded as having the endorsement of highest circles.

In an article written for the Tageszeitung upon President Wilson's note to Ambassador von Bernstorff, Count von Reventlow comments pointedly upon the fact that the United States concerns are continuing to assist the allies by furnishing them with arms and munitions of war.

"No one in Germany believes in the loyalty of the United States government to neutrality," he says, concluding with the statement that America cannot become the chief mediating agent in any peace negotiations.

GERMAN LOSSES WERE HEAVY

Paris Report Says Teutons Lost 9,000 Men in Forcing Passage of Ypres Canal.

Paris, April 26.—Heavy losses have already been inflicted upon the Germans in the fighting about Ypres. Dispatches from points south of the battle front state that fighting continues over a front of about eleven miles, but that the German attacks seem to be weakening under the fire of the artillery massed against them and that they are being forced back. A message from St. Omer estimates that more than 9,000 of the German casualties in the attacks resulted in their forcing a passage of the Ypres canal.

"T. R."--BARNES SUIT PUZZLING

Many Adherents Believe That the Former President Has "Come Back."

IVINS APPEARS CONFIDENT

Another Chapter of the Story Begun Friday With Roosevelt Again on the Witness Stand—Talked Four Days Last Week.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 26.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt of Oyster Bay and the United States feels that he has "come back," and his adherents agree with him.

But the William Barnes legions profess to have saved the best of their attacks for this week's chapter of the story, beginning today, and the issue is still in doubt.

A Puzzling Problem. Has the colonel, who held the spotlight for a week and chased the European war off the front page, "put one over," or is William M. Ivins, the wily Barnes chief counsel, laying a clever foundation for trapping the discoverer of the Riber of Doubt?

That was the puzzling problem in the minds of those who for a week have followed the course of this most amazing political fight.

The Barnes followers, however, appear very confident. It is hinted that Barnes has a submarine attack to deliver at the ex-president, but is saving his ammunition until he "sees the whites of his eyes."

In other words, Mr. Ivins has in mind a few questions that he is sure will confound the colonel and offset the heroic impression he has made, but he is withholding them for his parting shot, when the colonel has talked so much that the Barnes legal forces believe he will be "all bound round with a wooden string," and cannot extricate himself.

Colonel Talked Four Days. For four court days—24 hours—the colonel has talked without restraint, writing into the Onondaga county supreme court and coming into the world political secrets of the Empire state's G. O. P. that are amazing.

But William Barnes has not spoken and it is possible that he will bare much more political history than the colonel cares to. Also the further cross-examination by Mr. Ivins may cause Mr. Roosevelt to bare some political doings he does not intend to.

Indications are that the trial will last considerably longer than was thought, at least three weeks, unless Justice William S. Andrews curtails the testimony.

INDIANS BEAT MOHAMMEDANS

Native Troops of British Army Defeat 4,000 Invading Troops, Inflicting Heavy Losses.

Simla, India, April 26.—Native troops of the British army met the first assaults of the 4,000 Mohammedan soldiers, who were defeated in their attempt to invade India, it was announced. The Eighth Rajputs inflicted heavy losses on the enemy and the latter's rout was made complete when the King's regiment arrived. As the Mohammedans fled to the hills British artillery shelled them, killing many. Most of the dead Mohammedans found on the battlefield appear to be youths.

During the battle 10,000 inhabitants of the villages about Shabkar gathered on the hills and watched the hand-to-hand conflict below them.

STATE AUTHORITIES WARN THE FARMERS

CONTROL OF HOG CHOLERA TOLD IN CIRCULAR ISSUED BY EXPERIMENT STATION.

LOSES $2,000,000 ANNUALLY

Disease Can Be Eradicated By Proper Co-operation and Assistance of Counties and Farmers.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)

Frankfort.—"How to Save Two Million Dollars" is the catchy title of a circular to Kentucky farmers which has been issued by the state agricultural experiment station. The circular relates to the methods by which hog cholera can be controlled or prevented, and as it is claimed that this disease can be absolutely eradicated by proper precautions, and that it causes an annual loss in Kentucky of $2,000,000, it is argued that the farmers of the state will be that much ahead by strictly observing the regulations set forth. As an example of what can be accomplished by precautionary measures it is cited that through the co-operation and assistance of county agricultural assistants and veterinarians the disease has become practically unknown in a number of counties. The principal injunctions given in the circular are as follows: "Hog cholera is a highly infectious and contagious disease. It should be handled and dealt with like any other contagious disease. It is carried from farm to farm by running water, by dogs and birds and on the shoes of man.

"Farmers and hog raisers can do a great deal to control and eradicate this disease on their own premises by the observance of scrupulous cleanliness in the care of hogs and by the adoption of simple sanitary measures, and by good hog-farm management.

"Co-operate with neighbors and with the experiment station in their efforts to control hog cholera by the observance of the following simple sanitary measures:

"Burn the carcasses of all dead hogs.

"Isolate and quarantine all sick hogs and all new stock until they show freedom from disease.

"Any hog off feed should be quarantined and watched.

"Clean and disinfect hog houses.

"Scatter freshly slaked lime about hog houses and hog lots once a week. Lime is one of the cheapest disinfectants and one of the best fertilizers.

"Provide clean, dry quarters for hogs. A good hog house does not cost much.

"Do not pasture hogs by running stream. Hog cholera is carried for miles by running water.

CONDITION OF NAVY

STRENGTH IS GREATER THAN EVER—FLEET BECOMING MORE EFFICIENT MONTHLY.

Secretary Points to Increases in Personnel to Refute Argument That Service Is Being Neglected.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Washington.—Secretary Daniels made public a letter he has written to President Garfield, of Williams college, detailing the work in the navy during the last two years. Daniels wrote in reply to Garfield's request for material to meet statements that the United States is unprepared for military emergencies. The letter follows:

"My Dear President Garfield: I am in receipt of your recent favor asking for an authoritative statement concerning the present status of the navy equipment of the United States, and take pleasure in complying with your request as far as is compatible. There are now in active service, fully commissioned, 225 vessels of all characters, which is 36 more than were fully commissioned when I became secretary. There are also 101 vessels of various types, in reserve and in ordinary and uncommissioned, capable of rendering service in war. We have under construction and authorized 77 vessels (9 dreadnoughts, 23 destroyers, 38 submarines and 7 auxiliaries), as compared with 54 vessels (4 dreadnoughts, 14 destroyers, 23 submarines, 3 gunboats and 9 auxiliaries), which were under construction on March 1, 1913. All the vessels enumerated, those in active service and those in reserve, are supplied with munitions of war. No navy makes public the quantity of ammunition and torpedoes, mines and other implements of naval warfare which it keeps ready. It may be said, however, that within the last two years the quantity of all has been steadily and greatly increased. For example, we have increased the number of mines, on land and in process of manufacture, 244 per cent. With reference to torpedoes, the increase in two years has been 90 per cent. By the enlargement of the naval powder factory we shall soon be able almost to double its former capacity.

BLUNDER COSTS 12,000 LIVES.

New York.—"The British losses at Neuve Chapelle will never be told," declared R. G. Knowles, an American, who returned from the western battle field on the liner New York, which arrived here. "Three generals have been recalled as a result of the artillery blunder that was made in this battle," he continued, "a blunder that cost between 10,000 and 12,000 in killed and wounded. I have spoken to a number of army officers, and they are all of the opinion that the British losses in Neuve Chapelle battle were between 20,000 and 25,000 men. Half of that number, they told me, had been killed or wounded by the British artillery. The people of England will never be told the real story of that battle."

County Courts Accorded Jurisdiction. Certifying to the law in the case of the Commonwealth against David T. attorney filed an affidavit stating that the county court has exclusive jurisdiction over delinquent children. The appeal was taken from the Grant circuit court. Franks was indicted on the charge of grand larceny and his attorney filed an affidavit stating that Franks was only 17 years old. The commonwealth attorney moved that the court dismiss the prosecution on the ground that the circuit court did not have jurisdiction. The circuit court, however, on its own motion transferred the case to the county court. The appellate court says that the circuit court should have dismissed the prosecution. The complaint could have been made by the county court and Franks would have been brought under its care and supervision in that way.

Banks Authorized as Trustees. The Federal Reserve Board has authorized the following Kentucky national banks to exercise the functions of trustee, executor, etc.: The Marion National bank of Lebanon, the First National bank of Hopkinsville and the First Hardin National bank of Elizabethtown. These are the first three Kentucky applications that have been passed on by the board. Others are pending. The abstract of the condition of the national banks of Kentucky, exclusive of those of Louisville, on March 4, the date of the last call, as reported to the controller of the currency, shows that the average reserve held was 23.13 per cent. Loans and discounts were $48,142,873, gold coin on hand amounted to $446,038, lawful money in reserve was $2,553,203.

Raises Knox Assessment. The State Board of Equalization has raised the assessment of farm lands in Knox county 3 per cent and the assessment of town lots 5 per cent.

Auto Law Constitutional. Affirming the Jefferson circuit court, which sentenced Burwell K. Marshall, to from two to three years for unlawfully taking and operating Mr. Marshall's automobile, the court of appeals held the act constitutional which says "Any person who shall unlawfully take, drive or operate a motor vehicle without the knowledge and consent of the owner shall be punished with confinement in the penitentiary for a term of not less than two years nor more than five years."

THE GOVERNOR'S RACE.

It is evident, from the talk one hears on the street and at other places where local politicians are wont to congregate, that the race for the democratic nomination for Governor in this State is going to be a warm one. The indications, at present, are that Mr. Stanley and Mr. McChesney will be the only real contenders in the race. The prohibition element has already decided that Mr. McChesney is their logical leader and he will get almost the solid support of anti-whiskey people. Mr. Stanley is the recognized champion of the "wet" forces in the democratic party and will be backed solidly by the distillers, brewers and saloon keepers of the State. Moreover he has a personal following aside from these that is not inconsiderable. Mr. Stanley and Mr. McChesney are both born fighters and it is safe to assume that each will make things red hot for the other before the August primary. A joint debate between these two gentlemen is not improbable. But it were well for democrats to bear in mind that the party is in no condition to be rent by internal dissensions. In the fall campaign we are going to catch hell from without, and for that reason we had better try to have peace within during race for the nominations.

There is not much to be said in defence of the present State administration and let us not flatter ourselves with the idea that the republicans will not use every means in their power, fair or unfair, to defeat us in November. Their policy will be to nominate a candidate for Governor upon a platform containing a State-wide prohibition plank, but who will have a tacit understanding with the liquor people that their interests will be safeguarded in the event of his election.

The people seem to lose sight of the fact that the Governor has but little to do with the submission of a constitutional amendment giving the people the right to vote for or against Statewide prohibition. If prohibition must be the paramount issue let its advocates look well to the election of Senators and Representatives pledged to vote for a constitutional amendment submitting this question to a vote of the people. They are the ones who have the power to do or to not do. The Governor can only recommend, and his power will be equal to his influence with the General Assembly, nothing more.

If Mr. McChesney and Mr. Stanley, big and brainy as they are, make fools of themselves, sling mud, indulge in personalities and engender bitterness between their followers, and if the republican candidates fail to make such fools of themselves, the democratic nominees will have rough sailing in November.

Galesburg, Ill.—A lady in this city, cleaning a silk dress with gasoline, took the garment out into the yard to dry. She began brushing the silk briskly with her hand, causing a spark of static electricity, which igniting the fumes, burned the lady severely and destroyed the dress.

Hampton Roads, Va.—In the list of supplies requisitioned by Capt. Thierichens, of the German raider, Prince Eitel Friedrich, was an item of 50,000 bottles for beer, 100 bottles for each man on board. The naval board cut down every item on the list, except this one.

Clarksburg, W. Va.—Mrs. Kathie Dent was struck and fatally injured at Barnes Crossing near here by the same engine that struck and instantly killed Ulysses E. Waters at a neighboring crossing the same day.

Los Angeles, Calif.—William Flynn, 37 months and Alene Houck, 17 months, "eugenic babies," have been betrothed by their parents. They were winners in the recent baby show here.

Binghamton, N. Y.—After giving all his wages to his wife every week for 25 years, R. H. Walker is now suing her for a share of the money. She refuses to split up with him even though she has now eloped with another man.

Savannah, Ga.—Miss Mary Jane Furrell and Henry Beauford were married the other day by Justice of the Peace McCall, using a marriage license which was issued 21 years ago. Both contracting parties were more than 70 years of age and would give no reason for the long delay in their nuptial arrangements.

Winsted, Conn.—Physicians say an operation by which Richard Briggs, dairyman, wears a new eyelid made of flesh from his arm will be successful.

New York.—Mary Gunos asked her teachers to excuse her for being tardy. She was delayed in reaching school by saving her three-year-old sister and 18-months-old brother from suffocation in a fire.

What's the Difference?

Whether the democratic convention is held before or after the primary is to our minds of no great moment. In fact, all this agitation led by the Louisville Times seems "much ado about nothing" and quite as groundless as its hysteria about the democratic ticket not winning this fall. As a matter of fact all signs point to another sure and decisive victory.—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

GUMPTION
Which is Common Sense without Educational Furbelows.
By L. T. HOVERMALE.

Distinction Without a Difference.

After all, there is very little difference between the grounds taken by Fairplay and myself. We both favor the very best roads that it is possible to secure, though I believe that my friend is rather prejudiced in regard to the bond issue. However, he very pertinently remarks that the people want to know what they are going to get before they vote the bond issue. We are agreed on that. But if Fairplay had been a close reader of this column he would have remembered that I gave figures, based on the cost elsewhere, approximately at $3,000 per mile.

And had Fairplay been a close reader of the editorial columns of the Courier he would have remembered that for more than a year Mr. Cottle has been trying to get the farmers interested in the fact that in at least two sections of Morgan county limestone exists in abundance. A few miles up the river from town is a vast quantity, and also on Yocum creek. According to the geologists it ought not to be there—but it is. So that settles the question of the material for the roads. No one who is advocating the building of good roads by a bond issue desires a submission of the question until the matter is carefully investigated and the cost ascertained, but there must be some agitation of the question to secure even this.

It would not be for the greatest general benefit to single out a lone section or highway and exhaust our means in improving it to the exclusion of other sections of road, but to plan a system of highways leading from the county seat to the county line of every county adjoining us would come the nearest to benefiting the whole people of any plan that could be adopted. It would give practically all of the citizens of the county access to good roads, and the building of other roads would follow as a natural sequence. And to build that would not bankrupt the county. On the contrary, it would bring about such an era of prosperity that the paying for them would be an investment instead of a burden.

Fairplay runs off with the idea that because there was a bungle and misappropriation, or rather a bad appropriation, of funds in building the court house that the same thing would result if turnpikes were to be built. On the theory that we are never caught twice by the same trick it seems to me that there would be an extra watchfulness in the expenditure of the road fund, because the court house job is fresh in the minds of the people. As near as I can learn from careful inquiry the cost of building the fifty-five or sixty miles of inter-county turnpikes would be from $165,000 to $180,000, and with State aid the county would not have all of that to pay, and the supervision by the State in the joint building would insure the best possible construction at the least possible cost.

So if Fairplay is really for the securing the best system of roads in the only practical way he will have to join those of us who favor building them by means of a bond issue, as that is the only possible way that any county or other civic unit can accomplish any considerable amount of highway construction. With all that has been said in the columns of the Courier concerning the benefits of good roads it is useless to dwell on that phase of the matter. Fairplay readily agrees that good roads would be the best civic improvement, so the only difference between us is as to the best method of getting them. Perhaps our "quarrel" will help to bring out the expressions from the people and cause investigation that will put the correct information before the people.

What Will You Do About It?

The Southern Agriculturist does not believe in scare-heads, but it would like to print at the top of every page in box-car letters: "The greatest chance you have ever had to make money is here right now. What are you going to do about it?" Let us take a brief survey of the facts in the case and see if we are not justified in saying this.

Who is going to have the world to feed for the next decade or more? The plows of Europe must lie idle until a new generation grows up to take the places of the millions of fathers and brothers who lie mouldering in the bloodsoaked trenches. Even Germany, that most provident and careful of nations, has already begun to dole out foodstuffs like bank-notes, with the war only a few months old. Men who fight and their families at home must be clothed and fed; they must have grain and cloth, meat and leather; and their stores are already exhausted, or nearly so. Where is it to come from? It does not take a prophet to foretell the inevitable. There is only one nation left in all the world large enough and rich enough to supply this demand. And yet in face of this unprecedented and logical opportunity, we find men who for narrow personal or political reasons dare to sit up and howl calamity. The practical man needs only to use his senses to see the utter folly of allowing the depression, which of necessity followed the great shock of last August, to persist in such a degree as to paralyze our own powers and prevent us as a nation from taking advantage of the unparalleled chance that is now before us. Turn the question how you will, the truth is simply this: Is it not a matter of choice; is it a matter of necessity. Either America must feed the world or the world must starve.

Another depressing influence that has joined forces with the war for the discouragement of those who do not think far ahead is the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease. But, for the Southern farmer, this too, has its decidedly bright side. Already the government has the trouble so well under control that there is little likelihood of its invading more Southern territory. We must be careful, of course. But being careful is far different from getting scared. While the beef and dairy industries of the North and East must suffer, the rapidly growing South, the land of cheap pastures and favorable climate should see her chance to build. Nowhere can meat and milk be made more profitably: nowhere can hogs and sheep be grown under more favorable conditions, and nowhere can hay and grain be grown with a greater certainty of good crops for a good market.

The man who will get discouraged now is the man who does not deserve to make a success. The very crux of the times will bring out the qualities that make for success or failure. It is essentially a farmers' opportunity as elemental situations have been from the beginnings of time. There is no chance for failure for the man who is big enough to look beyond today. The time is ripe for the doing of big things. What are you going to do about it?—Southern Agriculturist.

The Best Letter.

You may write a thousand letters to the maiden you adore, And declare in every letter that you love her more and more,

You may praise her grace and beauty in a thousand glowing lines

And compare her eyes of azure with the brightest star that shines.

If you had the pen of Byron you could use it every day

In composing written worship to your sweetheart far away;

But the letter far more welcome to an older, gentler breast

Is the letter to your mother from the boy she loves the best.

Youthful blood is fierce and flaming, and when writing to your love

You will rave about your passion, swearing by the stars above;

Vowing by the moon's white splendor that the girlie you adore

Is the one you'll ever cherish as no maid was loved before.

You will pen full many a promise on those pages white and dumb

That you can never live up to in the married years to come.

But a much more precious letter, bringing more and deeper bliss,

Is the letter to your mother from the boy she cannot kiss.

She will read it very often when the lights are soft and low,

Sitting in the same old corner where she held you years ago.

And regardless of its diction or its spelling or its style,

And although its composition would provoke a critic's smile,

In her old and trembling fingers it becomes a work of art,

Stained by tears of joy and sadness as she hugs it to her heart.

Yes, the letter of all letters, look wherever you may roam,

Is the letter to your mother from her boy away from home.

Odd Bits of News.

Attleboro, Mass. The services at the Christian church last Sunday were unique in that the pulpit was occupied by the twin sons of the regular pastor. The boys are studying for the ministry.

Salt Lake City, Utah. Charles S. Zane, former law partner of Abraham Lincoln, was found dead in his bedroom here. Apoplexy. He left Illinois in 1884.

Mount Morrison, Colo. John Brisbane Walker, former magazine writer, now retired to a Colorado estate, has offered a site of 40 acres here for a home for newspapermen.

Chicago, Ill. The year just closed has seen less railway construction than any year since 1895 when the whole country was "broke." Last year saw only 1,500 miles of railroad built.

Prescott, Ariz. The ostrich farmers of the Southwest have been offering 150 of the birds at $5 each, with few takers. The feather and plume market has disappeared. It is likely that the birds will be turned loose.

Denver, Colo. Buffalo Bill has relinquished the title of Colonel, and will henceforth be known as General William F. Cody. He has been appointed Judge Advocate-General of the military forces of Wyoming by Governor Kendrick.

Savannah, Ga. Wearing a placard on which was her name, destination and 15 cents in parcel post stamps, six-year-old Edna Neff passed through the terminal station here on her way from Pensacola, Fla., to Christiansburg, Va., where her father awaited her. She weighed just under the fifty pound limit.

Poor Billy Sunday.

Poor Billy Sunday is having his own troubles. It seems that there are people, who even though they may believe that "the laborer is worthy of his hire," think he ought to tell his employers what he does with the money they give him. It is estimated that the evangelist makes about $200,000 a year and yet this immense sum does not bring peace and serenity to the plain-speaking preacher. Somebody is always asking, not "where did you get it?" but "what are you doing with it?" Sunday had hardly left Philadelphia before another former associate demands an accounting. The dissatisfied party this time is Francis Porter, a former press agent for Sunday, who sends to the newspapers a statement in which he demands an accounting of the $60,000 contributed by Philadelphians to the support of the evangelist's campaign there. Porter declares there is a shortage of more than $20,000, and says: "The real truth of the situation is that you (Sunday) are commercializing the name of Jesus Christ, boldly using his sacred name to advertise a money-making business." "A decided disposition," his statement continues, "has been shown (by the campaign committee) to avoid supplying the contributors to this fund with detailed information regarding its disbursement."

Revolvers.

A revolver is a nickel-plated substitute for bravery, which has practically driven the original article out of the market.

A revolver gives a puny man with a 3 1/2-inch brain and the pluck of a grasshopper a 100-yard reach and makes him more deadly than a Sioux Indian. There was a time when this country had no dangerous animals, except bears and wolves, and life was safe except on the frontiers, but now vast hordes of 16-year-old boys who use their skulls for a dime novel book case, roam the streets with cigarettes in their hip pockets, producing obituaries with the skill and enthusiasm of a cholera microbe; while it is at all times possible to meet a personal enemy who has been chasing you for a week, and who is reluctantly compelled to defend himself when he catches you by filling you so full of lead that your remains will require eight pall-bearers. Revolvers are now so generally used in debate, in domestic quarrels and repartee of all sorts that 8,000 Americans die of them each year, it is said.

Advertising is Electricity.

Advertising is the light of business.

Its light is better, more powerful, more universally used today than ever.

Advertising was originally the candle; then it became the lamp, now it is electricity.

Press a button today and you flood your business house with brilliant lights.

You know that there is a dynamo at work somewhere. You don't see it, but it is there.

You know that an electric current switched on produces the effect you want—light.

The public sees. You know that.

You know that you can not keep your business in darkness if you want people to see what you are doing.

People won't carry around their own light hunting you up. You must supply it yourself.

This light is advertising.

It sometimes fails, just as the electric light leaves you in darkness when the dynamo fails—when the current is shut off.

But it never fails if the dynamo (merchandise) and current (organization) are in working order.

If you fool with electricity it kills you dead.

If you fool with advertising, it kills your business dead.

Turn on the light! Keep it going steadily! Appreciate its power. —Fosteria Review.

Osa McGuire, W. A. and L. B. McClure, of De Hart, were here Wednesday attending Fiscal Court.

SCHOOL NOTES.

BY ANNA MITCHELL.

"Just a few more days for to tote the weary load."

Can any one estimate the value of these last few days of school and school life? Homes with so much work preparatory to the summer—schools with lessons which will last for life.

"Let us then be up and doing With a heart for any fate, Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to labor and to wait."

We hope that pupils will form the habit of doing night study for the examination days.

Reviews are very profitable and a well organized review system which covers the ground of a term's work—take study and concentration and we teachers earnestly request that the boys and girls work and plan to the very end and help make this year at "West Liberty" a banner year.

We look with pride to the three seniors and our hearts yearn for their success. We extend invitations to patrons and friends to visit the work during the remaining few days and by the end we hope each may be able to say: "I have done what I could."

As these are my last words for the Licking Valley Courier for the school year 1915 please accept my thanks and appreciation for the use of this column, and the few scattering remarks which I have said have been of more real help to me than to the readers, I feel sure, but to the friends, patrons and pupils with whom I have lived and labored, I will soon say "good bye."

Many happy times we have had together and if there is a tinge of sadness at the parting we feel sure there is no regret that we have lived and taught in your midst.

In the one month that remains let us band ourselves together, promising, each of us, to labor till the end that pupils may be better prepared for the coming grades and for greater usefulness in the future.

Work, watch, listen, profit! "Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam, Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home."

What a pleasure 'twill be to get back to the old home after having finished the work which was assigned to each of us.

Pleasant vacation to each and every one.

Use The Road Drag.

There exists a prevailing opinion in the minds of those who have used the King road drag that the persistent use of this simple drag will do the ordinary earth roads more good for the amount of time and labor required than any other method of working ever proposed.

Some of the best earth roads in Ohio have been made good by the use of this implement. Some advocates of the drag claim that the trustees of many townships could well afford to sell the heavy road machines to a junk man and invest the proceeds in a number of split-log drags.

Spasmodic use of the split-log or similar drag or the like use of any road-working implement, will not make bad roads good. The drag is light and easily handled and should be used as soon after each rain as the condition of the surface will permit. The job is quickly finished and the results are surprising where the dragging is carried on throughout the year. Possibly the most marked improvement from the use of the road drag will result from the early spring dragging.

Practically all farm papers have described the King, or split-log drag. However, if you are not acquainted with this simple implement and cannot find a description in your farm or local paper, you can secure a complete treatise of the implement and its use in Farmer's Bulletin No. 231. This bulletin is furnished free by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Slayer of Pheasants Fined.

Sells Stock of Goods.

W. A. Duncan, receiver for the Roper-Reese Lumber Company, sold at public auction Thursday, the 22nd inst., the entire stock of goods at Lenox, belonging to the company. Jas. Rowland, of Winchester, and W. R. Tabor, of Rothwell, were the purchasers. Messrs. Rowland and Tabor later resold the goods to Chas. Tabor and a Mr. Wells, of Rowan county, who, we are informed will continue to run the business at Lenox.

Comfort For the Schoolma'am.

Alabama and Washington are following the Texas idea and erecting cottages for the teachers of the rural schools. The idea is to do away with the old and never satisfactory plan of "boarding 'round," a relic of pioneer days. In Texas the school directors erect these cottages near the school house and one county has six of them. In one town the citizens bought the land and erected the house by public subscription. This place has six acres of land around it. In other places the teachers have five and six room cottages, live together on the co-operative plan and hire a woman to do the housework. Texas has over 100 teachers' cottages. The plan gives the teachers a chance for privacy and a touch of home life that is lacking under the system in vogue in other places. It is likely that the plan will continue to extend until there is a teacher's cottage in every school district.

Why?

They are still holding those old-time fiddling contests in the old-time style in Fleming county. The next Legislature should pass a law prohibiting these carnivals. —Falmouth Outlook.

Heart Disease Almost

Fatal to Young Girl

"My daughter, when thirteen years old, was stricken with heart trouble. She was so bad we had to place her bed near a window so she could get her breath. One doctor said, 'Poor child, she is likely to fall dead any time.' A friend told me Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy had cured her father, so I tried it, and she began to improve. She took a great many bottles, but she is spared to me today, a fat, rosy checked girl. No one can imagine the confidence I have in Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy." A. R. CANON, Worth, Mo.

The unbounded confidence Mr. Canon has in Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is shared by thousands of others who know its value from experience. Many heart disorders yield to treatment, if the treatment is right. If you are bothered with short breath, fainting spells, swelling of feet or ankles, pains about the heart and shoulder blades, palpitation, weak and hungry spells, you should begin using Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy at once. Profit by the experience of others while you may.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

Nervous?

Mrs. Walter Vincent, of Pleasant Hill, N. C., writes: "For three summers I suffered from nervousness, dreadful pains in my back and sides, and weak sinking spells. Three bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic, relieved me entirely. I feel like another person, now."

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

For over 50 years, Cardui has been helping to relieve women's unnecessary pains and building weak women up to health and strength. It will do the same for you, if given a fair trial. So, don't wait, but begin taking Cardui today, for its use cannot harm you, and should surely do you good.
